

Site Description and Purpose

This website will be a writing and photography portfolio that I can show when applying to journalism internships. The design will be clean and minimalist as a reflection of my personality and working style. It will have four main pages: photography, writing, graphic design and about. Each page will have a simple layout so that my work is the focus of attention. The about page will include a short bio, a downloadable version of my resume and a contact form. The pages photography and graphic design will have photo collages showcasing my photos and designs with short descriptions about the different projects. The writing page will have a list of links to external websites where my articles have been published.
